Dear Bill:

Thank you for the clipping which I had, and your suggestion which I did not have. I have always welcomed your ideas, and I agree with you that during the current period when a lot is being written and will be written about a new Director, that it is an excellent opportunity for newsmen to write some informative paragraphs on the role of the Director. I will try to exploit these opportunities.

In the case of Donovan, I was not the one he was in touch with. One obstacle to achieving the goal you suggested is that so many newsmen are interested only in the "hot news" such as who the new man will be, than in writing in depth on what his responsibilities are. However, I intend to keep in there pitching.

Keep up the good work. You are accomplishing something that had not been done before and setting a fast pace for the rest of us back here. Please remember me with affection to [REDACTED].

Sincerely, 25X1A9a
